GREENING'S ROSES GROW

Kaiserin Augusta Victoria. In color, a pale and lovely primrose. Especially desirable for cutting by reason of long stems, beauty of bud and flower. Considered by many to be the greatest creamy-white Hybrid Tea.

Duchess of Wellington. Enormous, tapering buds of golden orange, slowly opening to very large saffron-colored, sweetly fragrant Roses of great size and substance. Plant very vigorous, healthy, and liberal with its flowers. Doubtless the best of all yellow Roses. There are newer yellow Roses of better color and more pretentious form, but none more satisfactory.

Los Angeles. Never in the history of the Rose world has a new Rose created such a sensation as the Los Angeles. It is absolutely the finest all-round pink Rose ever introduced and must be seen to be appreciated. The stems are long, the flowers are large, its freedom of bloom and continuance in flower are remarkable, and its color "a flame-pink, toned with coral and shaded with translucent gold" at the base of the petals.

Hoosier Beauty. A large, full flower with well shaped buds; color glowing crimson. Sweetly scented, a great favorite for cutting.

Hadley.
Price, each, $1.50, $14.00 per 10.

Frau Karl Druschki. The finest of the white Hybrid Perpetuals. Known by some as the Snow Queen, its billowy white blossoms prove that name well taken. Very fragrant. It never disappoints.

Hadley. Hybrid Tea. A rich crimson-red flower with velvety texture, lovely form, and perfume. Moderate in growth and bloom. Splendid color which blues very little. Flowers superb.

GREENING'S ROSES GROW

Wm. F. Dreer. Its coloring is not sharply defined or aggressive, but just that modest delicacy and sweetness found in orchids and certain water-lilies. Soft, silvery shell pink, creating a golden illusion through reflection from the base of petals which are definitely gilded. A magnificent vase type.

Ophelia. One of the most beautiful of the newer introductions. Excellent for cutting, its perfect flowers of distinct form emitting an exquisite fragrance. Color salmon-flesh shaded with rose.

Lady Hillingdon. Slender, pointed buds and elegantly cupped flowers of deep saffron-yellow, paling toward the edges and becoming lighter as they expand; fragrant. The plant is erect, with perfect foliage.

Souv. de Claudius Pernet. One of the most reliable and strongest yellow roses ever introduced, a decided and unstained sunflower yellow even deeper toned at center. Unlike most yellows, hot weather and exposure have little effect upon it; the matured flower gleaming as richly as when first unfolding. Large and full with elongated petals; the buds long and pointed. In growth it is vigorous, erect and branching.

Marshall P. Wilder. Bright scarlet-crimson in color, flowers full, round and extra large. Very fragrant. Desirable in any collection.

Gruss an Teplitz. Double blooms of brilliant crimson with velvet shadings and intense fragrance. Blooms in open clusters with the utmost freedom throughout the whole season. Bush extremely vigorous and hardy.

HARDY PERENNIALS

In song and story the Old-Fashioned Garden was a favorite theme and how justly right is the tribute to the grace and statelyness of the Hollyhock, the Iris, the Peony, the Delphinium and Mallow, the vividness of color found in Canterbury Bells, the Foxglove and Poppy, all go to make a charm that once known is never forgotten.

PLANT ROSES FOR PLEASURE

GREENING'S ROSES GROW

ROSERAIE DE L'HAY. Dark red, double flowers with a strong, most pleasing perfume. Blooms very early in Spring and continues through the Summer. Vigorous and extremely hardy. A very reliable sort.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON. Snowy white flowers of good size and unusual quality, borne in profusion in Spring, through Summer and Fall. A fine rose for a big specimen plant.

NEW CENTURY. Splendid, very large fully double flowers of clear, flesh-pink with light red center and creamy edges; fragrant. Considered by rosarians to be one of the finest of Rugosas.

HANSA. Double, reddish violet flowers of large size, freely produced by a strong typically Rugosa plant. Hardy and dependable. Makes a splendid hedge or mass planting.

Rugosa Hybrids

Rugosa Roses are particularly valuable for their hardiness, healthiness, and their ability to thrive under most adverse conditions of soil and climate.

The original species, which produce their large single flowers throughout the season, are the only absolutely hardy ever-blooming roses in existence. Their hybrids are equally hardy. They are distinguished by erect, spiny stems growing from 5 to 15 feet, and by their tough, curiously wrinkled or rugose foliage. Particularly valuable for hedges or shrubberies in seashore gardens or regions where the winters are very severe.

Crimson Baby Rambler Blossoms.

F. J. GROOTENDORST (The Baby Rambler Rugosa Rose). Hardy. Deep red color. Blooms from June till frost. This Rose is the result of crossing a briar Rose (Rosa rugosa) with the dwarf Rambler (Polyantha). It grows vigorously, showing its Rosa rugosa blood in this as well as in the foliage. The flowers are borne in clusters—each individual Rose stands out full and distinctive.

Climbing Roses of the Finer Sorts

Paul's Scarlet Climber. This new hardy climber is not a Rambler, but is an entirely distinct hybrid and without question the most important addition to the list of Climbing Roses in many years. Incomparable in brilliancy of color, which is a vivid scarlet maintained without burning or bleaching until the petals drop. Flowers are medium size, semi-double; very freely produced in clusters of from three to six each on large branched canes.

Rosa Hugonis (Hugonis Rose). This Rose, often called "The Golden Rose of China," will bloom three weeks earlier than most other roses and is a spectacle in itself with every branch of last year's growth lined on both sides to the very tip with yellow single flowers. Its long arching sprays make exquisite indoor decorations in early Spring when other flowers are scarce. It is fine for shrubbery planting and makes a symmetrical bush about six feet in height and the same in diameter when fully matured. Beautiful reddish maroon new growth springs from roots to provide new bloom for next year's growth.

Doctor Van Fleet. One of the newer type of climbers. This variety shows a mass of beautiful clustered buds, which open out into large, shapely flowers; delicate flesh white. An admirable cutting variety with stems 12 to 18 inches long.
